Team up with a computer partner against opponents to test your skills in this great version of the classic card game. courtesy photo: Gabriel Beaudry/Unsplash A small vital space can still be elegant. All you need are the perfect products and accessories for living your studio or one bedroom apartment, maximizing your space. Of course, efficiency and comfort are important as well, and do not worry — we did not forget your small kitchen and bathroom. Here are 30 products that will help you to live great in your small space. If you don't have a lot of closet space, you can always put things under your bed - unless, of course, your frame sits too low on the floor. If this is the case, it is time to place the beds of DuraCasa under the legs to get an additional 3 inch boost of space for boxes, suitcases and anything else you want to keep hidden. The mounts are built to contain up to 2,000 pounds distributed on your bed. "This is exactly what I was looking for," says an Amazon customer satisfied. Others praise the risottos as "sturdy" and "nice and dense and strong". Something worth noting: Some people say that the climbers are not always put on wooden floors. The StorageLAB shoe organizer can help you keep your shoes hidden neatly. With two of these containers, you can pack up to 24 pairs of shoes and adjust the size of compartments to accommodate larger shoes or shoes with long heels. This handy organizer is also great for scarves, gloves and many other things. "I wanted something that looks good and keeps its shape," says a reviewer. The solid arrangement on these containers ensures that they hold their shape, and the handles make it easy to pull the unit out from under the bed. The transparent zipper top allows you to easily find the shoes you want. "An A++ for design!" radiates another happy owner. The headboard of the Sauder Orchard Hills library fits a snugly queen-size bed frame or leaves some space on each side for a full one. Built with "very robust" particle board, the headboard directly attaches to the rails of the frame, providing additional stability while taking minimal floor space. It comes without being assembled, and although reviewers say it is "easy to put together", many also said that the package is heavy enough and difficult to move from the main door to the bedroom. Once the headboard is put together, however, you have plenty of space for an alarm clock, reading lamp, a book escort (or a reading device) and stuffed animals or room furniture. Boxes under a regular bed frame feels too basic, take a look at the Dakota bed platform with drawers from DHP. It sits on an elegant frame, with a padded headboard and two drawers on each side, allowing you to store anything neatly and efficiently. "We were concerned about robustness", admits one reviewer, "but they were quickly lifted once the bed has been tested." Others praise the easy to follow assembly instructions, and a reviewer is particularly fond of the time saving on cleaning, noting, "There is no room under the beds for dust bunnies to collect." VonHaus' 2-in-1 vacuum cleaner is "not much bigger than a broom", but has more than enough power to keep your entire clean place. You can go on all floors, just like any other vacuum cleaner, or you can remove the vacuum head of the floor to turn it into a handheld for cleaning furniture and spilled out on tables and countertops. When you're done, unplug the container and throw away the dust and debris. "I can't believe how good the aspiration on this little vacuum is," says a buyer. Other owners are satisfied with its light weight and small size for easy storage. Several, however, suggest that filters should be cleaned more frequently than routine VonHaus recommends once a month. In addition to the organizers of door shoes like that of MISSLO have become classic features in modern design of home storage — so simple and obvious, once you think. Of course, many people use them for more than shoes. "I have one in my closet of linen that I use for medicine, lotions, extra toothpaste, special hair creams - call it," a reviewer report. "I've earned a whole towel rack." The organizer is "easy to hang", with four metal hooks that fit most standard doors. Once in place, "Do not slip or slide around", and the 24 large mesh pockets can easily hold 12 pairs of shoes — more if the shoes happen to be sandals! "No matter how neatly I fold my bras and my underwear," a reviewer complains, "they always seem to become a big funnel in the drawer." The solution? Simple Houseware's organizer set has four boxes designed to contain ties, scarves, underwear, bras or socks in the individual compartments, allowing you to easily locate items at a glance. Just lose a pair of favorite socks in the back of the drawer, where it could remain buried indefinitely. "My only complaint," says a reviewer, "I would like to be able to get another 24-compartment organizer without having to buy the whole set." Simple Houseware hanging cabinet organizer is "easy to set and super light, but extremely durable", according to a satisfied buyer. When hanging on the dressing rod in your closet, the fabric drops down to reveal five shelves, with an extra three pockets on each side. You can put a lot of weight on the shelves, including jeans, sweaters, bath towels, sheets and pillow covers. (The compartmentscan also contain heavy boots.) This organizer is "the hardest I've seen", says a reviewer, adding, "It doesn't try at all." Are you constantly hunting through different boxes on top of your dresser to find the necklace or pair of earrings you need to match a dress? Maybe you need AOUU furniture jewelry and mirror to dress combo. The full-length mirror on the front opens to reveal reveal reveal storage space (including hooks) for any jewelry collection, with additional shelves for makeup and perfume. "It's well made, very sturdy and hangs perfectly on the door of my closet", says a reviewer. (Can also be wall mounted.) The magnets keep the door closed securely and a series of blue LED lights along the ceiling light on when the door opens, making it easy to find what you need. When ground space is at a premium, a full-size basket can be a cumbersome eye pain. The Smart Design pop-up basket can sit quietly next to your dresser or tucked away in the closet. The mesh lining allows wet and sweaty clothes to dry faster, reducing the risk of funky odors. "These hold waay longer than I thought they'd have!" exclaims a reviewer. "That's enough to do two loads of laundry in one trip, in fact. Also, when laundry day comes, the sturdy handles make it easy to carry, and there are side pockets for detergent and softener. The Floor Lamp with Shelves by Simple Designs Home is the kind of thing you never think about until someone reports it "so you can't figure out what a great idea it is. It is a floor lamp just over 5 metres tall and characterized by elegant and sophisticated lines, but also has three shelves perfectly spaced to hold a telephone, a small flower box, beloved figurines and more. In the bedroom, it could easily act as a bedside table and reading lamp. "It took me 15 minutes to assemble it myself", says one reviewer, adding that you need to have a Phillips screwdriver on hand. "You can't go wrong with that", adds another reviewer. "It really does bring the room together". Some owners, however, note that the electric cable can dangle clumsily along the length of the lamp holder. Home Dynamix offers a variety of rugs featuring soft decorative motifs of Persian inspirati in neutral colours. The contemporary Royal Clover rug is an example that blends well with almost any furnishings. Whether you're looking for an area rug to pull the living room together, a runner for the hallway or a small round rug for the bedroom, the company has the size you need. Many reviewers are happy with how easily these rugs can be cleaned, with many stains coming out using just a damp cloth and a little spray. "They empty very well", adds a reviewer, even in a house with more animals. If you're watching TV and you want to enjoy a drink but you don't have a coffee table, what do you do? Maybe it's time to consider the CoachCoaster, a gadget that easily fits into the arm of the sofa or armchair to provide a safe base for anything from beer cans to coffee cups. The sleeve is weighed on both sides to stabilize it, and the purse holder keeps the containers firmly in place even if accidentally the brushes with the arm. (although a reviewer said it is still vulnerable to jumping cats.) maybe you'd like to eat something while watching the game. Could be. be the dish on the coffee table and bend to eat, or you could keep the dish and risk pouring the food on the couch. The Sauder coffee table offers a better solution. The table top is actually a cover that lifts several inches and flows forward, allowing you to eat — or work — comfortably on the sofa with the top in front of you. Below, the table has a lot of storage space which is perfect for stains that you do not want outside. The reviewers describe this coffee table as "very robust and heavy". It is also recommended to have someone at hand to help you put together. Spend a lot of time getting out in the bedroom — reading, watching a movie on your tablet or checking on social media? You could jam a lot of pillows against the header or wall to support your back — or you could get the ComfortSpa reading cushion. A comfortable 18 inch high, the foam cushion provides excellent back support. "This helps me feel like I'm more lying on the couch than in bed," says a happy reviewer. "It is very comfortable, no matter how you lay on it!" The armrests also have pockets so you don't have to leave glasses or smartphones on the bed, where they could be crushed if you roll. They call it a laptop, but have you ever tried to keep one in your lap? They sit in a disadvantage, and you have to keep your head bent to read the screen, potentially causing back and neck pain. The portable desk adjustable by Mind Reader deals with different problems. It is cushioned along the bottom, so it rests comfortably and smoothly on the legs. The smooth plastic surface can be adjusted to eight different angles, accommodating any location you choose, to sit until lying on the sofa. Although it is designed to work with laptops and tablets — and comes with a clip to keep them slipping out when the desk is angled — also makes an excellent desk. "No longer worrying for long periods!" says a buyer. Many notice that plastic material is thin but say it is more than robust enough to contain various electronic devices, even a thick hard cover book. Perhaps you want to be a wine connoisseur — but you can not find anywhere in your food angst to store more than one bottle. Take a look at the Sorbus wine door on the wall. Many customers describe the rack as "easy to install", although they also recommend to use longer screw mounting screws that come with the product, especially if you are hanging on dry wall. Once it is on the wall, people love the "clean, functional, simple design" of the metal rack, which contains up to nine bottles of normal size wine safely. If you are not a wine drinker, you can also use it to cook oils orin the bathroom as a towel rack. "We almost always had a whiteboard on our fridge for shopping lists and messages", says one consumer. Another says the thumb board! is "the absolute best they have never had." It comes in two sizes (17 inches from 11 inches and 20 inches from 13 inches) and includes markers — even magnetized to attach to your refrigerator — in four different colors. Dry board cleans easily, even if you leave something written on it for a month, and the slim design, with "clean and smooth" edges, means that it blends perfectly on a white refrigerator, an effect that another buyer describes as "quickly enough!" Did you get tired of taking every pan you own from the toilet to get to the only pan you need? Maybe it's time to get rid of your frustration with the simple organizer pan rack Houseware. Place the rack on its side to hold four pots in a row, or stack five pots horizontally without worrying about scratching them. "You could not even see the bottom of my cabinet before," says a reviewer, but the unit still leaves room for pots in many cases. The racks are strong enough to contain heavy cast iron pots, although deep frying pans will only fit on the top. It can also be screwed into the closet wall or the bottom for additional stability. One of the biggest problems of keeping your kitchen organized is everything comes in boxes of different sizes and bags, forcing to create improvised pyramids on your pantry shelves. DRAGONN's 10-piece air-tight storage container set offers an elegant alternative, with containers of various sizes to handle everything, from spices to spaghetti. The shopkeepers praise the containers as "high quality and very durable" and note that they also look great on the counter of the kitchen and are easily washable by hand. Hermetic seals keep everything fresh and dry and are a great cleanser against ants and other insects that could invade your kitchen. When it comes to kitchen storage, the closet under the sink is the space to which most people do not like to think. It is easy to throw all the bottles of different detergents there and bang the door, but the adjustable shelf organizer from STORAGE MANIAC offers a better solution. You can return the order to chaos and make it easy to find what you need when you need it. The reviewers say that this two shelving unit is "very well done", noting that the length is adjustable to fit the size of your closet. The shelf surface consists of steel panels, which can also be moved to make room for the sink pipes. "Under my kitchen sink looks wonderful now!" says a owner. It is also perfect for under your bathroom vanity. Great chefs manage their kitchens with an impeccable sense of mise en place — the principle that places everything exactly where you need it beforeso that you can prepare any dish smoothly and efficiently. An empty kitchen wall offers a great opportunity to pull essential items together in an easily accessible spot à with the help of Wall Control's pegboard organizer. It's the same kind of metal pegboard you could use to hang the tools on the wall on a workbench, which ensures that the board is sturdy enough to also hold your Panels. "If you want something that will last a lifetime", says one reviewer, "then I highly recommend Wall Control blackboards." You can choose from a range of colors. A well-stocked kitchen needs an assortment of mixing bowls and measuring instruments. The set of nine pieces by Joseph Joseph presents all the bases, including four measuring cups and a spoon. The set is made of colored plastic that illuminates any kitchen, and the bowls do not lose their shine, even after multiple trips through the dishwasher. The mixing bowls are extremely robust, with non-slip bottom. "On family movie night", one reviewer reports, "three bags of microwave popcorn fit the large mixing bowl." The small mixing bowl can hold a dozen eggs at the same time, without problems. The hard part about becoming a more adventurous home cook isn't finding unique ingredients à you keep track of them once you pack them in your pantry. YouCopia's Chef's Edition SpiceStack has drawers that stand out from their chassis and tilt forward so you can view the content at a glance. There is enough room for up to 30 bottles of regular-sized spices. Reviewers call the SpiceStack "a total dream", praising the sturdy plastic casser for their "amazing spice storage." It also comes with empty and pre-printed labels for the front of the drawers if you want to take immediate stock of your inventory. When you have a small kitchen counter, a piece of knives can take up a lot of valuable space. The Wusthof sub-cabinet knife lock is the perfect solution, giving you easy access to eight knives (and a wrapping steel), then crawling off the road when you're done. The beech wood block screws in the bottom side of a kitchen cabinet with just three screws, and many reviewers describe it as "very solid" and "excellently detailed with a smooth finish." They also note that the knives are held in their slots magnetically, but "you fly off if you're not careful." And then again, you'd always be careful with knives, right? "This shower caddy is epic!" raves a user who purchased the Hanging Shower Organizer of Simple Houseware. It has a deep basket for shampoos, conditioner and other bottles, with a shelf underneath which can hold razors, sponges and soap bars, plus hangers for a loofah or a rear brush. When you don't have a window ledge next to the shower or space in the corners of your tub to hold stuff, just hang this caddy over the shower head to keep everything within reach. Other clients praise it as "super robust" and "very stable... exactly what my husband and I needed." If you don't feel comfortable hanging a caddy over your head shower, you can always try the organizer of the shower curtain on the net from Yihoon. He hung firmly on the door towel or shower rod and has enough large mesh pockets to contain everything necessary, from tablecloths to shampoo bottles. "We have a small shower, and I hate the look of the bottles all over the place," says a reviewer. This organizer offers an ideal idea!The mesh pockets dry quickly, and you can always throw in the washing machine if you get a little fun. In a small room, every inch of floor space counts. Bulky fans occupy too much space — and usually make too much noise. The Lasko oscillating fan is discreetly in a small space and boasts a wood grain finish that merges with most of the furnishings. More importantly, as a reviewer observes, "It is quieter than any tower fan I have ever owned", even at its higher speeds. A remote control allows you to change the settings without getting up, and a night mode allows you to sharpen slowly from high to low while drifting to sleep. TV, cable TV, DVD player, video game console, high speed modem, wireless phone base — you have tons of devices to connect and very few sockets. Belkin's 12 outlet power strip and overvoltage protector can help keep everything running. The power band has six sockets extending towards the center and three more on each side, specially designed to contain those oversize power adapters that always make you miss the adjacent exit on normal power strips. The internal circuitry can also measure the amount of power each device uses and spread the voltage accordingly. "If I need more power bars in the future," says a satisfied reviewer, "this is what I'll buy." Even if you have a power band large enough to handle all your electronic devices, you still need to take care of all those cables and cables, which can create an unexpected mess along the floor and walls. Some SimpleCord cable concealers can deal with this problem. Plastic units are designed to merge with most of the wall colors, leaving a laced path from devices to an outlet. The reviewers praise these occulters as "easy to install" and "very robust". Once you have your wires arranged in the track containers, scroll the plastic cover on, and you are all set. Add-on units allow you to easily turn the corners, and you can also lock them in position along the skirting boards with adhesive strips or mounting screws. Vite.
