History Anyone who plays Stardew Valley knows that animals play a very important role in the game. You are, after all, a farmer. What probably did not know, however, was that the different degrees of resources are linked to the affection and state of attentiveness of their animals. This is especially true for cows and players looking for big milk. Large Milk is the highest grade of milk that players can get from their cows. It is not only sold well, but it can be used in the kitchen and other handicrafts that are high quality too. Now the question is: How do you get big milk? How to get big milk in Stardew Valley to get big milk, you you increase your degree of affection with your cows up to five hearts. The cardiac meter goes up in half and each half is 100 affect points. Affection in an animal can be elevated in several different ways. First, you should make sure to pet your cows every day. So, you have to remember to remember every day too. You can get extra points if you let your cows graze outside too. However, don't forget them and leave them outside at night. This will take away most of the affection you aroused that day. Our Other Guides To elevate an animal's mood, you really need to do the same things you do to elevate affection. You should pet and feed the animals every day During the winter, you will have to put a heater inside your pen. It seems that even the cows are getting cold. However, the best way to raise an animal's mood is to let it eat outside. Once the cow's affection and mood are at their highest, you will have a higher chance of getting Big Milk than otherwise. Getting big milk is still a matter of chance, but you will have an easier time when the animal is loved and happy. Let us know in the comments below for what uses Large Milk in Stardew Valley. How to generate objects in Stardew Valley There are two ways to generate objects in Stardew Valley. The first is to name your character the IDs of the objects you would like to generate, each time you speaks to a people who say their name. For example, you could name your character [434][163][166] to spawn Stardrop, Legend Fish, and Treasure Chest. The second way is by naming an animal (one you buy from Marnie) the item IDs that you would do This method only works once per animal. Spawning Items Using an Animal's Name When you buy an animal from Marnie, name the IDs of the items you would like to spawn. Please note that this works only once per animal!To produce Iridium Milk you would need to name your animal [803]. Be sure to include the parentheses [] in the name.You can use up to three item IDs per animal. For example, [166][163][688]. Give your animals different names, as you cannot use the same name again. You can do this by changing the order of the element IDs. For example [163][166][688] for the second animal OR you can add an extra character, such as a space between square brackets or add random letters or numbers at the end. Elements spawning using your character name You can generate elements by naming your character the IDs of the elements you would like to spawn.
