We understand you need a better desktop app for Journey, and we are excited to share our plans for its future. The current Windows, Mac Classic, and Linux apps are in maintenance mode due to outdated technology that makes it unsustainable to continue their development. These older versions also lack important features that many of you have requested, such as Apple sign-in and Journey Cloud Sync. To address these limitations and provide a more seamless, modern experience, we are introducing a new desktop app: "Journey Desktop 2024." This new app will replace the existing Windows, Mac Classic, and Linux apps to offer improved functionality and a better overall user experience. What to Expect: Journey Desktop 2024 is designed to meet the evolving needs of our users and will come with a host of exciting new features: A new colored theme UI Journey Cloud Sync Email and Apple login End-to-End Encryption (E2EE) Shared web links and journals Print to PDF Export to DOCX and EPUB formats Odyssey AI Smart photo organization Elastic search Support self-host We are committed to delivering a superior journaling experience with Journey Desktop 2024. We plan to release the alpha version by early August 2024, and we can't wait for you to try it out and share your feedback. Thank you for your continued support and trust in Journey. Warm regards, The Journey Team Oh, this is excellent news! I had actually started looking for a new journaling platform when I found out the desktop app had been abandoned, because this is such an important feature for me. Looking forward to it! theIgerm Thanks for your support! We will not abandon the desktop app. The delay was due to our efforts to find the best possible way to implement cross-platform capability. We hope you can give it a try when the app is ready! nataliegarrison weiming Thanks for the support! Thank you, Journey! I can't wait to install it on my computer. Sounds great!! It still works offline right? I ask because I've seen other software become online-only in recent years. thoroughmas Yes, it works offline. great news! thanks! i look forward to the new desktop app. Dear Journey users, we are excited to share some screenshots of Journey Desktop and its current progress with you. Stay tuned for more announcements from us. Great! I can't wait for the desktop app! The desktop app is scheduled to be released this week. Please look out for the announcement here! At Journey, we're dedicated to listening to your feedback. That's why we're excited to introduce Journey Desktop, replacing old versions with modern features like email sign-in, E2EE, Journey Cloud Sync, cloud print, Odyssey AI, and more. Read to find out the new features and how you can download. Hi all, the new desktop app is available for download ahead of its release date. Thanks! I tried desktop 2024 on mac and it runs smoothly and feels better than catalyst version. It doesn't support self-hosted drivers at present, while it can sync data from google drive. However, i hope there's option for us to tune the UI font. it looks too small on both catalyst version and desktop 2024. from settings - general - appearance, we can only tune font for diary entries, not the UI font, right? gangzhou01 Thanks for using the desktop app! Self-hosting is currently in the test phase. It will be rolled out as soon as we are ready. It will be possible to change the UI font, likely in the subsequent app update. Should you have any questions, feel free to let me know. John Hi, Any update on ability to change the UI font? I feel like everything in the app is way too small, the font, the buttons, etc. Even the PLUS sign to create a new journal entry, which should be prominent given that's the primary purpose of the app, is super small. Sometimes I forget where it is and can't find it. Hi This looks great, have installed the first version and that has updated to the new version today. It's in a windows 11 machine, I have a sync drive and a google drive. The google drive is my primary one because the sync drive is full and i am not yet committing to further payments. BUT although my google drive entries downloaded, any entries i make using this new desktop version don't sync to google drive. The google drive also says "Last sync: never" even though my existing entries downloaded CJE Can you restart the app and try again? Does it still show "never"? Next Page »
